of the Pfatt men. They think his nomination would placate the sore heads in Erie County and make them solid for the ticket. Haight's nomination would also compensate the Erie delegation for the withdrawal of Roberts.

Summed up, the situation at noon to-divide the Morton and Wadeworth would be chosen for first and second place and Haight or Kellogg for Judge. Comprioller Roberts is the most disappointed man in the State. He is critically ill here, as a result of the hard work he har been doing, and the worry over his defeat. He was the first in the field, and began his campaign by trying to make a record as a careful and efficient public servant.

He started in by weeding out the pensioners of the Democratic Administration in the State departments and institutions. He saved the State a great deal of money. Mr. Platt said Mr. Roberts didn't do more than his candidate.

Mr. Platt could not have picked out duty, and selected Mr. Morton as his candidate.

Mr. Platt could not have picked out any other man as his personal candidate on whom he could unite the Republicans. All who are not blinded by factional opposition agree in saying that Platt has played the greatest same of politics in molern times.

missioner Kerwin, Bernard Barthall Gibbs, Johnny Simpson, J. W. Jacobus, Cornelius Van Cott and Jacob Hess, of New York.

The situation assumed a serious and threatening aspect this afternoon. The Eric County delegation, thirty-eight strong, met in caucus and unanimously declared against Platt and Platt domination. They indignantly rejected the nomination of Haight, of Buffalo, for Judge of the Court of Appeals, as a sop to appease their anger, and decided to make a fight against Morton.

It was agreed that on first hallot the Eric County vote should be divided among Fassett, Russell, Stewart Woodford, of Brooklyn; Gen. Daniel Butterfield and Cornelius N. Bliss, of New York, and on second ballot the entire vote of the delegation is to be cast for the candidate developing the greatest strength against Morton.

Cornelius N. Bliss was told that here was his golden opportunity to strike a death blow to Plattism if he would declare himself a candidate. Several of Mr. Bliss's influential friends labored with him for two hours to induce him to come out against Morton. Somebody spread the report that Bliss had declared himself, and the wildest excitement prevailed.

Mr. Bliss could not be found, but Marchaese.

friends, put a quietus on the sensational rumor.

"Mr. Bliss." said Mr. Bradley, "is not a candidate. He will not be a candidate. I know it. A few of his friends in the New York delegation may vote for him, but that is all."

Mr. Brookfield was greatly pleased over the action of the Erie men. As Fassett will undoubtedly have the largest following, the decision of the Erie men is practically in Fassett's favor, and improves his chances. It is now said that Platt will force Haight's nomination to induce the Erie men to support his ticket.

Talk is heard here and there that Platt has precipitated another Folger campaign, but nobody of any prominence could be found who would back the statement with his name.

There is a deep rooted feeling of hate against Platt, however, and it is not believed that the nomination of Morton will be forced without a protest against the manner in which he was foisted on the party.

the manner in wanter the party.

There is no objection against Morton personally, but because he is Platt's man. Some with backbones among the 32 delegates will probably express opinions about his dictation.

Mr. Morton will not be here to hear what will be said about him. He will remain at his Rhinebeck home over the Convention.

Convention.

There are only two contests to be heard—the Third Albany and Second New York—so the permanent organization of the Convention will not be delayed. The Convention will lose no time over John E. Miholland and his free-booters, who will contest the seas over John E. Milholland and his free-booters, who will contest the seats of the regulars from New York. Mil-holland will be ignored.

Talk is revived of ex-Collector Francis Hendricks, of Syracuse, as a candidate for Governor or Lieutenant-Governor. Mr. Hendricks's friends say he is ten-tatively a candidate. That is, he will enter the lists if there should be a deal-lock and make the running in the stretch. Savian will set many votes from New Saxton will get many votes from New York and Kings County for Lieutenant-Governor, He and Wadsworth have an equal following in both delegations.

one eise seemed, outwardly at least, to have a friend.

Very few of the big guns were left over from Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week, so that familiar faces were not seen this morning. There were some of the left-overs however, who did not think it beneath their dignity to go up with the common herd. Among them were Congressman Lemuel Eig Quigg.

who brought his wife along to see the fun; John Wanamaker, ex-Collector Scidman, Assemblyman Deyo, Dr. Sch. ders and Conrad Alheldt. They went up on the 2.30 o'clock train. About thirty delegates went with them.

The only uniformed corps to put in an appearance was the Lincoln Ploneers of the Eighth Assembly District. They were about sixty strong, and presented a neat appearance with their buff hats and Morton banners. Before the departure of the 10.60 train, upon which they embarked, the Catholic Protectory band played a number of lovely airs. The band also went along with the Ploneers to Saratoga to help make that place how.

The officials of the Grand Central Station are satisfied that there will be a big rush in the afternoon. Trains will start for Saratoga at 1, 3.30 and 6.5 o'clock, and special cars will be at tached to each. There will be no difficulty, however, in taking care of all who desire to go along.

The man met the child not far from her home, between 12 and 12 o'clock washington and west streets.

The description of the man as furnished by people who saw him with Lizzle, is that he is heavily built, with a black mustache, and about thirty-eight years old. He is rather good-looking and unworthy misuse of the court, went of the form of the man advertising scheme to boom a patent rai poison and vermin destroyer, and is cheaper than fence posters and newspaper notices at so much per line.

"I now see why Mrs. Sallade keeps her famous donkey," said Mr. Friend. "It is to draw up her legal papers.

Attorney Scaring started at this, but did not reply. Mrs. Sallade bit her lips. "Now, may it please the Court," went on Mr. Friend, "this case is an absurd and unworthy misuse of the courts. As he did so Mrs. Sallade hissed in his ear: "I'll show you something about donkeys and insects. You're a fine fellow, you are. But I'll reform you."
"Better reform yourself," retorted Mr. Friend, with more directness than gallantry.
"Oh, I reformed years ago, when I quit horse stealing in Texas," sneered Mrs. Sallade, referring to a previously published statement that she had lived among horse theyes in the Southwest.

The Court stopped this aside by announcing that he could not proceed with the case until he has looked up the law on the points made by the defense. He will decide Thursday next.

The story as told Judge McMahon is as follows:

The parents of the two young men reside at M9 Second avenue. The mother has been in poor health for several months, and about two weeks ago her condition became serious. A few days ago the attending physician declared she could not live many days longer. A message informing him of the critical condition of his aged mother was sent to the cider son, George, whose home is in Mount Vernon.

George came in yesterday afternoon, and with the other members of the family, except Frank, gathered around the bedside of the sick woman. In a few moments Frank came in. As soon as he saw his brother George he made a will rush for him, attempting to strike him with his fits. George retailated and in a twinkling they were engaged in a flerce fight. A polloceman was summoned and they were locked up.

The two brothers were seen to leave the court-room shaking hands this morning, having declared of their old-time hatred, which was the cause of the trouble. They hastened home, hoping the wound not be too late.
